

The following check-list can be used to insure that you do not forget anything.

Safari Clothes

- Safari hat for protection from the African Sun
- Fleece hat for cold mornings & evenings on the back of the hunting truck
- Safari jacket keep the cold out
- Safari shirt
- Scarf/bandana
- Gloves will be useful during the early mornings when you are on the back of the hunting vehicle
- Safari trousers/pants
- Belt
- Underwear
- Socks
- Comfortable and walked-in safari boots/shoes
- Sandals/flip flops for camp use and to relax the feet
- Pajamas
- Another set of traveling clothes

Toiletries

- Insect repellent cream or spray, but most camps will provide in case your forgot
- Wet wipes/hand sanitizer will come in handy during the hunt if need to clean blood or dirt from your hands
- Toothbrush & tooth paste
- Shower gel
- Moisturizing skin cream. Will be good for dry skin & sunburn
- Sun block even though you will be hunting during winter
- Shampoo
- Lip balm for dry lips caused by the sun and dry wind while driving on the back of the hunting truck
- Cotton Buds to clear the ears of dust
- Razor with shaving cream/gel. If you use an electric razor bring spare batteries or charger
- Athletic skin lubricant or diaper rash cream to apply to chafed areas

Hunting Equipment and other odds and ends

- Your firearms
- Telescopic sights
- Ammunition per caliber (limitations on number of ammo per caliber will apply)
- Sun glasses and reading glasses and bring a spare pair in case of breakage or loss
- Contact lenses with spares. Do not forget the cleaning kit
- Knife and make sure to pack within hunting case or check-in luggage
- Ear plugs to keep the snoring of your hunting partner out or to protect your ears when shooting

- Writing equipment to keep your memoirs
- Wildlife reference or reading books
- Binoculars
- A range finder will be useful, but not a must
- Camera with spare batteries, data card, lens cleaner and charger
- Torch with spare batteries
- Headlight with spare batteries
- Inflatable travel pillow for potential long drives to the hunting lodge
- Calculator for currency conversions or adding your trophy bill
- Money belt which is a safe option for carrying money and your passport
- Plug adaptor (check the plug type for the country to which you are going)
- Travel laundry soap if you want to wash the odd item. Our hunting camps will provide laundry services
- Alarm clock for early morning wake-ups. Your PH will also gladly wake you up if required
- Sewing kit for emergency repairs and blister treatment (needles)
- Personal water bottle which can be put on your waists. You may end up stalking or following a wounded animal for long periods
- Spare batteries for all electrical equipment
- Small rifle cleaning kit. Remember you are not allowed any flammable liquids on the flight or in your luggage
- Ammunition pouches

Hunt Documentation

- Passport with correct visa and number of empty pages
- Emergency phone numbers of your family back home
- Phone numbers of your safari outfitter in case you get lost
- Insurance card with contact details and membership details. Ensure other members of your group or your PH know where to find it in case you are incapacitated
- Medevac Insurance with contact details and membership details. Ensure other members of your group or your PH know where to find it in case you are incapacitated
- Vaccination certificates, especially yellow fever certificate which may be needed at airport. Currently South Africa does not have any limitations, but her neighboring countries may
- Firearm Permit from home country - just in case this needs to be checked by anyone as proof of your ownership
- Copies of passport and other documents in case they are lost
- Copies of medical prescriptions to prove your ownership of prescription drugs, often demanded as an airline security measure. Also useful if you lose some pills and need some more
- Credit cards for shopping and settling your account